Despite this, the Austrians have sent reinforcements against Italy and have at some parts of the line assumed the offensive.

The country is so rough and the Italians, since they declared war, have been so successful in capturing important positions for defense, that an advance by the Austrians can not for some time threaten the defenders. The operations, however, are likely to take on a more interesting character.

The heavy guns continue their bombardment along the western front and in the Vosges another battle is in
